The Youth and Family Caseworker will have the responsibility of using evidenced based approaches in a casework framework to engage young people and their families for meaningful, client led outcomes. The role is also responsible for facilitating various groups workshops and events, consequently improving overall community engagement and social participation for young people. All programs will be underpinned by evidence informed principles and work with the Targeted Earlier Intervention framework.

Targeted Earlier Intervention Program

Young people have the best chance of leading a full and happy life if they live within families who give them life-long, stable, loving relationships, and if they belong to communities which cherish them.

The vision for the TEI program is that:

- Families, children and young people's needs are met early to prevent the escalation of need
- Families are able to access support earlier in the lives of their children and young people, and are empowered to live independent, meaningful lives
- Risk factors that lead to child abuse, neglect, and domestic and family violence are addressed early
- First Nations children, young people, families and communities have access to timely, effective, accessible and culturally safe support and services.

With a focus on earlier intervention, the TEI program provides targeted services at the point where they can have the most impact - early in life and early in need. By encouraging community based solutions, alongside tailored formal supports, TEI services can ultimately prevent children and young people from entering the statutory child protection system.

The TEI Program can achieve this by:

- Actively engaging with vulnerable children, families and communities, and working with them to provide the services they need, which may involve coordinating service provision across the sector
- Helping communities to support and protect their members, through building stronger social connections and support networks
- Recognising the importance of culture in nurturing a sense of safety for First Nations children and young people in their family and broader communities
- Supporting parents to meet the emotional, physical and material needs of their children, through warm and nurturing interactions and encouragement
- Assisting children to have the strongest possible start to life, to reach age appropriate milestones and reach their potential
- Assisting young people to stay connected
