Vision

A more equitable world through better health.

Purpose

Create and translate knowledge into better health so no-one is left behind.

Values

Respect, Equality, Inclusiveness, Diversity.

Who we are

Burnet Institute is an Australian-based medical research and public health institute and international non-government organisation that is working towards a more equitable world through better health.

What we do

We are committed to creating and translating knowledge into better health so no-one is left behind. We do this through engaging with and understanding the needs of a broad range of communities and stakeholders to develop laboratory-based and social research programs, policies and products that deliver better health outcomes.

Where we work

 Priority countries:
Australia | Papua New Guinea | Myanmar

We also support and contribute to research and public health programs in other Asian, Pacific and African countries.

Australian Institute for Infectious Disease (AIID)

Bringing together Burnet Institute, The University of Melbourne, and the Doherty Institute with funding from the Victorian Government, the AIID is a visionary initiative designed to protect Australia and the region against infectious disease and future pandemics. Establishment of a new state-of-the-art facility which will be the new home of Burnet is expected to be operational by 2027.
