Location:	Newington
Responsible to:	Director Research Centre
Responsible for:	No Subordinates
Collaborates with:	Senior Research and evaluation officers Ethics Executive Officers Data Management Officers Managers and senior staff across the organisation

Our Organisation

Family Planning Australia is the leading provider of reproductive and sexual health services in NSW. We are committed to excellence in meeting the reproductive and sexual health needs of the community. As an independent not-for-profit organisation we offer expert clinical care, information and advice for everybody in every family as well as education and training and evidence-based research to support doctors, nurses and other professionals and lead international development projects to promote the rights of people in the Pacific.

The Research Centre at Family Planning Australia has an important role in identifying research priorities related to reproductive and sexual health, conducting quality research and translating this research to impact at the health service level. The Research Centre also facilitates the monitoring and evaluation of all of Family Planning Australia's programs and services in Australia and the Pacific Region, leading to improvements and innovations in the way Family Planning Australia works and providing leadership for the sector. The Research Centre regularly collaborates with universities, national and international research institutions on clinical and population health research.

Position Overview

Family Planning Australia is recruiting a Monitoring and Evaluation Officer to join the Research Centre part-time (0.65 FTE, about 3 days a week) for a fixed term of 18 months (may be extended subject to funding). The Monitoring and Evaluation Officer will contribute to the design, development, and implementation of methodologies that investigate and evaluate health systems and programs as well as attitudes, knowledge, and behaviours.

The role will be actively involved in Family Planning Australia evaluation and monitoring activities to support performance, policies and planning for reproductive and sexual health initiatives and to increase the body of knowledge in reproductive and sexual health in the public domain. The Monitoring and Evaluation Officer is a key intermediary between the Research Centre and internal stakeholders from other Family Planning Australia business units, which involves collaboration, problem solving and effective communication.

This role is also responsible for supporting the Director Research Centre and Senior Research and Evaluation Officers in the overall delivery of existing research and programs. This includes maintaining appropriate documentation and records to comply with funders' guidelines, liaising with key external stakeholders, advertising, and communications, and providing effective and timely reporting
