

Position Description

Pregnancy and Early Parenting Practitioner (Family Services)
SCHADS Level 4

The Caroline Chisholm Society

The Caroline Chisholm Society (the Society) is an agency providing a range of support and assistance to pregnant women and parents with young children. It delivers services that respond to the needs of families and supports them to achieve and maintain a safe and nurturing environment.

Our services are characterised as having a child focus and being family centred, being flexible and responsive, acknowledging the expertise of family, providing positive pregnancy support, connecting families with communities and promoting safety.

More information about the organisation is available on our website <http://www.caroline.org.au>

Child Safety

We are committed to protecting children and young people from all forms of abuse, bullying, exploitation, and neglect. The Society is committed to creating environments in all our programs and services where children and young people are safe and feel safe.

We are committed to listening to children and young people, addressing any concerns they raise with us. The Society will treat all allegations of child abuse very seriously. We will report all allegations in compliance with incident reporting, mandatory reporting and reportable conduct requirements.

All staff, volunteers, students on placement, and board members of the Society are required to support this commitment to child safety, and to behave appropriately towards children and young people at all times.

Nature of the role

The Pregnancy and Early Parenting Practitioner at the Caroline Chisholm Society delivers support services to families including assessment, counselling, single session & short-term casework, case management, referral and advocacy.

This role is part of the Family Services Team and delivers a range of interventions including outreach and in-home support services to a specialised cohort of pregnant women and families with young children up to 5 years of age. This role requires staff to work alongside families to strengthen and enhance their parenting capability and works to prevent children and families from further system involvement.

Working closely with all stakeholders, the Pregnancy and Early Parenting Practitioner is accountable for:

- upholding and promoting the values and objectives of the organisation,
- case management, with the ability to respond to a mixed caseload of low, medium and high complex Family Services cases, to work autonomously and to support colleagues with their case management, including experience with,

- improving women's access and participation in antenatal and postnatal services through direct client services and active outreach to support services.
- co-leading parent education groups focussed on the early years and parenting.
- engaging with Maternity Services, and Maternal and Child Health Services.
- single session and short-term case work,
- program development, following and proposing changes to policy, quality assurance processes, and evaluation of both program areas (transition support and family services),
- co-leading liaison between sectors on behalf of Caroline Chisholm Society and supporting colleagues with secondary consultation and referrals, and
- client related record keeping and data entry with limited oversight,
- co-leading allocated areas of agency and administrative duties, and
- continuous professional development.

All caseworkers at the Caroline Chisholm Society work to create a supportive and welcoming environment to respond to the needs of pregnant women and young families. This may also include answering the telephone, responding to those who enter the building and working from an alternative office.
